Statewide Assistive Technology Programs (ATP's)

ATP's are federally funded programs in almost every U.S. state which offer:

- Information about what devices and services are available and where to obtain them
- Device loan and demonstration, and in some states, borrowing programs to 'try out' devices
- Funding resources for purchasing or acquiring assistive technology
- Device exchange and recycling programs that provide individuals with used equipment at little to no cost

Statewide Alternative Financing Program

\(AFPs\) are programs in almost every U.S. state which:

- can help individuals living with a disability get affordable financial loans to purchase assistive technology.
- Typical assistive technology purchased through this funding include modified vehicles, home modifications, vision/hearing aids, and adapted computers.

Center for Independent Living

Centers for Independent Living (CILs) are private, nonprofit agencies that provide services to maximize the independence of individuals with disabilities and the accessibility of the communities they live in. Core services include advocacy, independent living skills training, information & referral, and peer counseling. Many CILs also offer equipment loan programs. Use the following link to determine your local Center for Independent Living and contact them for more information.
